Reference is invited to Rule 10 of the Rules regulating the State Provident Fund which governs withdrawals, final closing etc.,

Withdrawals and final closings are being freely allowed for the past 3 years in view of (1) Salary Cut and consequent inconvenience to officers, (2) Surplus money available from out of the loans, deposits etc., and (3) avoidin payment of interest on the money in the fund.

Now that the Treasury position has changed and Government are feeling the pressure, it is for orders if the Rules should be strictly followed and withdrawals permitted only on a restricted scale and strictly according to rules.

7.1.35.

Submitted for orders. The Salary cut has been removed from 1-7-35 in the case of officials drawing not more than Rs 100 and the rates of cut have been reduced from 10% & 7½% to 5% and 2½% in the case of officers drawing more than Rs 350 and Rs 100 respectively.

Instead of framing general working rules applicable to all cases, the present procedure of dealing with such cases independently on their merits may continue for one more year. Applications for final withdrawals have, however, to be discouraged as far as possible.

Serial No.

The emergency reduction in salaries of Government officers has been abolished from 1st July 1936.

The question under consideration in this file, viz discouraging withdrawals from the Provident funds, was raised at a time when our Treasury Balances were low. We have now got heavy cash balances requiring to be invested, and we are also allowing a special rate of interest (4%) on Provident fund balances. The withdrawal of balances from the Provident fund is thus advantageous to Government. The present procedure of permitting such withdrawals, taking into account the merits of each case, may therefore continue
